

Skype Sessions with Scientists

Ideas for Skype Sessions:

2 key times – project review before they get started AND presentation of data/recap. Most of my teams disappeared once data was collected and they are left missing a key piece, working with data and thinking about the next step (future research). This is key to their learning that science continues upon previous ideas/mistakes/findings.